3. (cont'd) Miss Corley indicated that she had already contacted the Institute of Defense Analysis and after discussion agreed that unless we heard further from the office, no further action would be required by the Agency in this matter.

25X1 [redacted] In response to a request and after checking with [redacted] provided to Mr. Stuart P. French, Senate 25X1 Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee staff, the name and last known address of a Cuban refugee who had reported on interview in December that he had stumbled on to a Soviet convoy in early November which was transporting a missile 20 feet long and several other missiles.

[redacted]

25X1 [redacted] Received from Mr. James Kendall, Counsel, Senate Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee, a paper for our information and review drawn together by a Colonel (Donnelly?)
of the Library of Congress entitled "Cuban Subversion in Latin America." There is some consideration the Subcommittee may desire to attempt to declassify it at a later date.
